The ICSA Company Secretary's Handbook By Douglas Armour

A re-working of the "Handbook of Company Secretarial Administration" (David Lintott). The text focuses more clearly on the practitioner market as the demand for a student text is now much larger. The re-vamp modernizes the look of the existing book, and increases its practical relevance. Features include improved cross-referencing, indexing and page design; practical information and far less history than the "Handbook"; and up-to-date, relevant information clearly targeted at practitioners. It is designed for people carrying out company law and secretarial function in small to medium sized companies, who may or may not be professionally qualified. This edition includes: precedants (draft workings) for all core functions; the Cadbury, Greenbury and Hampel Codes of Practice; a model Memorandum of Association; appendices on restricted company names, matters reserved for the Board and model terms of reference for Board Committees.
