Editorial Review

From School Library Journal

PreSchool-Grade 2-Minnie and Moo are surprised by a one-eyed, package-delivering, potatolike alien named Spud, who crash-lands his UPS ("Universal Package Service") spaceship in their pasture. He needs another ship and five gallons of "space fuel" to deliver a tube of Anti-Bump Cream to prevent planets from bumping into one another-and he has 30 minutes to get the job done. He fixes a tractor to replace his ship, but still needs space fuel. Luckily, that fuel turns out to be a white liquid that tastes good with chocolate-chip cookies that's right, milk. And Minnie, dairy cow that she is, complies. (How a cow can milk herself is anybody's guess.) Spud successfully departs, saves the planets from disaster, and somehow replaces the tractor and leaves a box of donuts by the end of the eighth chapter. (Whew!) The narrative is convoluted to the extreme. Verbal gags are weak; the good one(s) may well be missed by beginning readers. Illustrations are appropriately playful. However, silly stories should still make silly sense, and this one is too muddled to be amusing.

Review

"Cazet's cows are back, charming as ever, in an easy reader that is as loopy as ever." (Kirkus Reviews)

"Brief chapters and exuberant pencil-and-watercolor artwork [make these books] udderly likable"
(PublishersWeekly (starred review of MINNIE AND MOO GO TO THE MOON and MINNIE AND MOO GO DANCING))

"A laugh-a-minute, unbridled demolition derby of an easy reader" (The Horn Book (review of MINNIE AND MOO GO TO THE MOON))

"The two funniest, most winsome cows on the early-reading circuit have to be Minnie and Moo." (Kirkus Reviews (starred review))

"Cazet has struck a vein of precious ore in his 'Minnie and Moo' series for beginning readers." (Kirkus (review of MINNIE AND MOO AND THE MASK OF ZORRO))

"These gleeful fantasies are currently the cream of the begining reader crop." (Bulletin for the Center for Children's Books (review of MINNIE AND MOO GO TO THE MOON and MINNIE AND MOO GO DANCING))

About the Author

Denys Cazet is the author and illustrator of more than 25 picture books for children, including Never Spit On Your Shoes, winner of the California Young Readers Medal.

The books about Minnie and Moo are his first for beginning readers. He was inspired to tell stories about the silly cow best-friends when he passed a herd of cows in which all but two were facing the same way. The other two stood next to each other, facing in the opposite direction from the rest of the cows. He immediately dubbed the two nonconformists Minnie and Moo and imagined the adventures two cows who were loyal friends rather than followers of the herd. Mr. Cazet is currently writing I Can Read Books featuring Elvis the Rooster from the farm on which Minnie and Moo live.

Mr. Cazet was an elementary school teacher for 25 years, and has also been a school librarian and elementary school media specialist. He remains active in his local elementary school parent and advisory committees. A California native, Mr. Cazet lives with his family in the foothills of the Napa Valley.
