Here's a little "secret" about the NRRPT Exam: the NRRPT Exam is what we in the test preparation field call a "content driven" test.

While some tests are looking to see what you are ABLE to learn, the purpose of the NRRPT Examination, offered by the National Registry of Radiation Protection Technologists (NRRPT), is to test your understanding of what you have already learned. The goal of the NRRPT Exam is to use a standardized testing process to create an objective assessment of a test taker's knowledge and skills.

In other words, it's more about what you know than your ability to solve clever puzzles. This is good news for those who are serious about being prepared, because it boils down to a very simple strategy:

You can succeed on the NRRPT Exam and become a Radiation Protection Technologist by learning critical concepts on the test so that you are prepared for as many questions as possible.

Repetition and thorough preparation is a process that rewards those who are serious about being prepared, which means that succeeding on the NRRPT Exam is within the reach of virtually anyone interested in learning the material.

This is great news! It means that if you've been worried about your upcoming NRRPT Exam, you can rest easy IF you have a good strategy for knowing what to study and how to effectively use repetition to your advantage.

But it also creates another set of problems.
